

Testing of Personal protective equipment

– against falls from a height

Equipments to protect against falls from a height are mandatory to use when working in heights, and will hinder and limit the dangers from falling from a height.

To ensure the function, quality and durability of such equipment it is essential to test them according to the latest standards before they are placed on the market. FORCE Technology will be glad to test your product to ensure that it fulfills the latest harmonized product standard.

We offer FORCE Certification A/S NB 0200 as Notified Body when certifying.
